NOTES FROM AFAR.

Six bull rings are in course of construction in France, and there will be many more ere long if the government does not interfere. The federal government of Switzerand is much perplexed these days by the problem caused by the enormous proportion of foreign residents in some of the cantons or counties. In certain localities the foreign popula-tion exceeds the native.

Petroleum fields of some impor-tance are being opened in Japan and the companies engaged are capitalized at more than $5,000,000. The industry has reached such proportions that two Tokio banks have arranged to open branches in the region and plans are on foot for building a pipe line to Tokio.

A funeral notice in a Chicago morn

A train had to stop in Coffee county, Tenn., to allow a bear to get off the track. The Johnsons, of Chicago directory note, number 5,750, and have a clear

GOT RID OF THE TARANTULA.

The Express Messenger, as Advised Took the Best Means of Disposing of It.

A young man wearing a secretofter coat and with big beads of perspiration on his face came into the smoking car of an Eric railway train as it was getting along toward the meadows of Orange county the other day. He was the express messenger, says the New

"I've bagged something," he ex-claimed. "Can anyone tell me what kind of a pup it is?" A big man, with long whiskers and hair and a cowboy's hat, who was smoking strong plug tobacco in a clay pipe,

"Lemme see it." The young man held the dinner bucket at arm's length and raised the lid. The big man looked into the bucket. "A t'rantuly, by cedar!" he said, and took the bucket from the young man. "A t'rantuly, as sure as guns!" he continued. "A citizen of Bermudy, this chap is. And a beauty, too!"

The big man got cut of his seat and passed the dinner pail around among the passengers. It was nearly half full of something that seemed to be all hair and claws and eyes. No one seemed pleased with the sight except the big man. It was a tarantula sure enough, A unanimous request was made by he rest of the passengers that the hideous spider be pitched out of the window. But the big man gazed at the deadly thing with undisturbed inter-

"Where did you run ag'in him?" he asked the express messenger.
"Came out of a bunch o' bansnas in my car," replied the young man. "I cornered him and he jumped into my dinner bucket and I shut him in. What

One That Was Inscribed on a Graphaphone in the Makor's Own Voice.

One of the wealthiest land proprietors near Smolenski, in Russia, died a few months ago, and after the funeral his heirs and attorneys begau to look for his will. They fancied that this task would be merely perfunctory and that the document would be found mong the other family papers, but much to their surprise, they were unable to find the slightest trace of it. Every room and article of furniture in the house was then carefully searched, but the result was the same, and the only conclusion at which the heirs could arrive was either that no will had ever been made or that if one had been made it was destroyed before their kinsman's death, says a London exchange.

The 'ssing document, however, was found a few days ago and in the strangest place imaginable. A young man was rambling through the house, and, happening to see a graphophone on a table in the library, he examined it to see if it was in working order, and finding that it was he put a record in it. which he supposed was that of some popular Russian song. What was his amazement, however, when instead of a song he heard the dead man's voice slowly recite the words of the missing

The heirs were promptly notified of this discovery and they lost no time in carefully examining the record containing the will. It was found to be flawless, and the question then arose whether such a will would be deemed valid by the courts or not. This question is now being discussed in the supreme court at St. Petersburg and the case is interesting all lawyers who have heard of it. Many think that the will will be pronounced entirely valid, and if so it may become a common practice for persons to use graphophones for the purpose of making their wills.

Must Pay for Medals.

It seems somewhat ridiculous that a man who has gained a prize shall have to pay for it. Such is the ease with respect to the prizes gained by many of the exhibitors at the exhibition. Gold and silver medals have been awarded by the hundred, but instead of such medals being actually of gold and silver, they will be of bronze, unless the successful exhibitors choose to pay for them. The prize winners have just been informed that those who have gained a silver medal can have one of real silver-one weighing 130 grammes by paying 22 francs, while the happy recipient of a gold medweighing approximately 200 grammes for the trifling sum of 710 francs. They sometimes do strange things in France.-Paris Messenger.
